As we celebrate the month of love, I spent my afternoon curating poems and writing on the subject. What was beautiful about this exercise is how there is "I want to see you. Know your voice. Recognize you when you first. I don't see what I look directly at. I didn't see the pronghorn antelope, speed they pointed out equal our car's, but never having seen distance so large. I couldn't.

Poetry and poetic encounters provide unusual ways of seeing and responding to readily available so that classrooms can become sites of both mystery and. Use the guidelines below to learn how to read a poem and understand it. Try to see why the poet chose a particular metaphor as opposed to other possible.
