

The story is a reflection of seven months of experiences and emotional difficulties. It describes how an accident changes your life. The story begins with a marriage that joins two separate families. Too soon they experience hardships, losing a stepdaughter in a car accident and then dealing with the difficulties of caring for a son who suffered a brain injury in a car accident a week later. The story walks the reader through the emotional loss and challenges as experienced through the mother's eyes. It describes the hope and despair felt during each tragic event, and how hope overshadows despair as time passes. It describes the challenges faced to overcome the difficulties resulting from the brain injury and the struggle to fight back and regain what was lost. It describes how the family held together against all odds and moved forward despite the difficulties.
